

Practice Profile

SG Architecture was formed in April 2010 by Stephen Guard and offers a wide range of architectural services throughout South Devon working out of East Allington near Kingsbridge.

Stephen is a fully qualified architect. He studied at Newcastle University, before starting work in London in 1999. After gaining considerable experience in different sectors at several practices, Stephen returned back to Devon in June 2007 where he worked for several of the South West's top architects before setting up SG Architecture.

SG Architecture strives to provide the Client with a well conceived and thought out solution to meet their requirements. Through a rigorous design approach all options are explored so that the best solution is adopted which is both practical and economically viable to build.

SG Architecture has experience with a wide range project types including the following;

New Dwellings.

Domestic extension and alterations.

Loft conversions.

Barn conversions.

Agricultural buildings.

Dealing along the way with Planning and Building Regulations through to on site inspections.

SG Architecture can also provide drafting and visualisation services either as a consultant architect or technician on a freelance basis.
